bdah da. Daniel, son of Shubael (Daniel, Shubael, Edward, John, Cornelius) and Rebeckah (Crosby) Waldo; born Jan. 6, 1802, at Alstead, N. H.; died Oct. 5, 1881, at Meredosia, Ill. He was a farmer, living at Chesterfield, N. H., until Oct. 10, 1832, when he removed to Meredosia, a deed of July 14, 1835, calling him of the latter place, though deeds of 1833 and '34, in which years he sold his lands in Chesterfield, call him of Chesterfield.[1] He became an extensive farmer at Meredosia, owning five thousand acres on the Illinois River, chiefly bottom land and mostly improved. He was a man of independent character, and in early youth repudiated his family's politics and religion and became a warm democrat and a Universalist. In company with his brothers, James-Elliott Waldo and George-Curtis Waldo, he commenced a general merchandise business in 1832. They erected the first steam sawmill in the limits of Morgan Co., Ill., in the fall of that year, and, soon after, the first steam flouring-mill and distillery, which interests he afterwards disposed of. He was appointed postmaster of Meredosia by President Jackson and held that office for sixteen years. He was again appointed to the same office by President Grant and held it for four years. He was interested in the building of the railroad from Springfield to the Illinois River, the first important railroad in the State, and was appointed to throw the first shovelful of dirt at the ceremony of breaking ground for that enterprise. He was the first man in the State to shake hands with Stephen-A. Douglas when he arrived at Meredosia in 1833. For forty-one years he held the office of justice of the peace and was always known as "Squire Waldo."[2]

He married (1), July 18, 1831, at Chesterfield, Maria-Ticknor, daughter of Dr. Oliver and Sally (Ticknor) Baker of Plainfield, N. H.; born Aug. 5, 1811, at Chesterfield; died Sept. 15, 1834, at Meredosia.

He married (2), Mch. 31, 1836, at Meredosia, Emily Fox of Batavia, N. Y.; born Apr. 8, 1813; died Jan. 23, 1855, at Meredosia.

He married (3), July 5, 1857, at Meredosia, Mary-Jane, daughter of Elijah and Mary (Campbell) Thomas of Columbus, O.; born July 9, 1833, at Franklin, O.; living, 1899, at Meredosia.[3]

H.;[3] died Aug. 28, 1890, at New London, Conn.[4] He was educated in the Presbyterian faith, but had been for some time contemplating a change in religious matters, when the sudden death of his mother ended the controversy. He says: "My mother, though one of the best of that hallowed name and universally beloved, had never made a profession of religion, and for that cause the Presbyterian minister, Rev. John Walker, who attended her funeral, very charitably consigned her to ——! This day's work settled the fate of orthodoxy for me. It was standing by her grave that day, while the wound the priest had inflicted was fresh and bleeding, that I made a vow to be revenged by devoting my life to blowing the obnoxious creed sky-high. I have kept the vow to this hour." He studied under Rev. Hosea Ballou of Boston, Mass., whose daughter he subsequently married. He preached in Boston and vicinity for two years and then went to Cincinnati, O., where he found many leading men ready to aid in establishing a liberal church. A meeting-house was built for him the first year. The same year he commenced the publication of a weekly paper, The Sentinel and Star in the West, which was continued for many years. His work was extensive. "During his five years' stay in Cincinnati, he preached in all the large cities and towns in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, and, to some extent, in Virginia and Tennessee. He published over one hundred controversial sermons, held a number of public debates and planted the seeds of the new faith, first and generally in the West." In Lynn, Mass., where he was pastor of the First Universalist Church from 1835 to 1839 and where he established two flourishing societies, he was attacked with a disease of the throat which compelled him to retire temporarily from active work, and for three years threatened to end his "war, of words at least, against orthodoxy and for universalism." Recovering, he accepted a call from the First Universalist Society in West Cambridge, now Arlington, Mass., and commenced his term of service there on the first Sabbath after Mch. 15, 1841.[1] There he remained until 1847, when he went to Troy, N. Y., and was there from 1849 until 1854.[2] He then removed to New London for the benefit of his wife's health and continued to reside there until his death.

He married (1), Oct. 26, 1831 (by Rev. Hosea Ballou), at Boston,[3] Elmina-Ruth, daughter of Rev. Hosea (Maturin, Peter, John, Maturin) and Ruth (Washburn) Ballou of Boston; born Apr. 3, 1810, at Portsmouth, N. H.;[4] died June 29, 1856, at New London.[5] She was a cousin of Eliza Ballou, mother of the late President Garfield. She was accustomed to write poetical articles for the periodicals of the day and her last poem may be found in "Waldos in America," p. 46.

Mr. Waldo married (2), Feb. 10, 1864, at Boston, Mrs. Caroline-Matilda (Wright) Mark of Boston, daughter of Winslow and Sarah Wright; born about 1811 at Bolton, Mass.; died Feb. 15, 1892, at New London. She was widow of David Mark of Boston, whom she married July 28, 1840, at Boston.[6]

H.;[4] died Mch. 29, 1881, at Lowell, Mass., of Bright's disease, and is buried in No. 2 Yard at Lowell.[5] He appears to have passed his whole life at Lowell, his name first appearing in the Lowell directory in 1851 as employed by W. A. Fisher & Co., dealers in West India goods, and living on Fletcher street. In the same year, however, an Allen Waldo, "painter," was also living on Fletcher street. Perhaps one of them was the father. In 1853, Allen Waldo, "painter," was living on Smith street. In 1861, in company with D.-G. Emerson, and under the name of Allen Waldo & Co., he was in the grocery business on Middlesex street. In 1866 and '68 he was proprietor of the Howard House on Middlesex street. In 1874 he was again in the grocery business on Middlesex street. He is called Calvin-A. in the record of his second marriage, probably by error of the recorder.

bdba bi. SETH-HARDEN, son of John-Elderkin (Zachariah, Edward, Edward, John, Cornelius) and Beulah (Foster) Waldo; born Oct. 4, 1802, at Hampton, Conn.;[1] died Oct. 30, 1890, at Geneseo, Ill., after a brief illness, having retained his faculties to the last. In 1825, he taught for a few months in the summer at Franklin Academy, Andover, Mass. He graduated at Amherst College, 1831, among the best students of a class of sixty, and at Andover Theological Seminary, 1834. In 1834–35 he was principal of Oberlin College, and was afterwards called to the pulpit and was a preacher in various places in the West: Mansfield, O., 1835–36; Ravenna, O., 1836; Kinsman, O., 1836; lecturer at the academy at Farmington, O., 1836–37; ordained by Woburn Association, Mass., Aug. 6, 1839; Farmington, O., 1837–42; Ashtabula, O., 1842–45; Dover, O., Bellevue, O., to 1854; Geneseo, Ill., 1854–57; Vienna, Ill., 1859–60.[2] In 1861 he became principal of a select school at Geneseo, and passed the remainder of his life there, continuing to teach until his death, preaching occasionally, but having no fixed charge. In his eightieth year he began the publication of a new method of studying English grammar, which has been highly thought of.

He married (1), Apr. 11, 1834, probably at Andover, Abiah, daughter of Moody (Thomas, Samuel, Samuel, John) and Dolly (Farnham) Spofford of North Andover, Mass.; born Oct. 31, 1803, at Andover, died Nov. 15, 1881, at Geneseo.[3]

He married (2), Mch. 23, 1882, at Geneseo, Mrs. Amelia-Spencer, daughter of Orra and Sophronia (Phelps) Clark of Albion, N. Y., and widow of Eri-Allen Green of Gaines, N. Y., whom she married Aug., 1857, and who died Apr. 17, 1879 at Charlotte, Mich. She was born Sept. 30, 1822, at Albion, and was living, 1901, at Rochester, N. Y.[4] Though twice married, Mr. Waldo never had a child.

July 14, 1805, at Hampton, Conn.;[1] died Mch. 2, 1877, at Canterbury, Conn. He was for the most of his life a farmer, living on the old home farm in Waldo district at Waldo Four Corners, Canterbury. He taught school there for a number of years, and was elected to many town offices,—hayward, 1827–28, 56; tithing-man, 1830, 31, 33, 40–42, 44, 45; highway surveyor, 1834; fence-viewer, 1835, 39, 43; member of board of relief, 1837; grand juror, 1837, 43, 48–50, 54, 56; constable, 1844; collector, 1849; assessor, 1851, 57; school visitor, 1856; and representative, 1855. He was admitted to the church at Westminster, Nov. 2, 1828, and was deacon of that church for many years. He was a member of the State militia, and once nearly lost his life at a general training by the premature discharge of a field-piece. A strong republican in politics and a staunch patriot, delighting in the history of the Revolution, he had no patience with Southern sympathizers in the late war of the Rebellion. He was of massive form, though of average height, of even temper and strong character and just in all his dealings. His memory was very retentive, and he was fond of enforcing a point by scriptural quotations. Young and old delighted in his anecdotes and stories. In the absence of the pastor he would frequently lead the service and preach a sermon. For some time before his death he resided at Wauregan, Conn., and his death is said to have occurred there, but it is recorded in the records of Westminster parish.

He married, Oct. 6, 1831, at Canterbury,[2] Sophronia, daughter of James and Sarah (Downing) Bingham of Canterbury; born Apr. 27, 1809, at Canterbury; died Dec. 15, 1883, at Canterbury, of heart disease.[3]

Mr. and Mrs. Waldo are buried in the Waldo Cemetery at Canterbury. Their gravestones read as follows:—

"Dea | Enoch W. Waldo | died | March 2, 1877 | aged 71 years 7 mos & 19 days."

"Sophronia B. | wife of Dea. Enoch W. Waldo | died Dec. 15, 1883 | aged 73 yrs. 7 mos. | & 18 days."

bdba bk. SARAH-FOSTER, daughter of John-Elderkin (Zachariah, Edward, Edward, John, Cornelius) and Beulah (Foster) Waldo; born Jan. 31, 1808, at Hampton, Conn.;[1] died June 14, 1889, at Geneseo, Ill. Her early school training was acquired in Canterbury, Conn., to which town her parents removed when she was three years old. In early life she evinced a love for books and became an earnest student. In her nineteenth year, after her public profession of religion, when she joined the Westminster Church, Sept. 2, 1828, led by an intense desire for a higher education, she left home and attended an academy in eastern New York under Prof. Salem Town. Receiving, after a few months, a certificate of extraordinary merit in scholarship, she went to Amherst, Mass., and there studied the classics under her brother, who was then a student, and attended lectures by Prof. Hitchcock. About 1832 she took charge of the female department of Fort Covington Academy, N. Y., of which Prof. Daniel Branch was principal. About a year after her marriage to Prof. Branch, they resigned their charge and removed to Oberlin, O., where, after several terms of study and teaching, she received the degree of A.M. from Oberlin College. Later, she and her husband took charge, successively, of the Farmington Academy; the Geauga Seminary, Geauga Co., O.; the academy in Prairie City, Ill.; and finally of McDonough Normal and Scientific College, McDonough Co., Ill. They then settled in Cherokee Co., Kan., where, in 1884, they were engaged in farming.

She married, Feb. 26, 1834, at Fort Covington, N. Y., Daniel Branch of Worthington, Mass. He was a graduate of Union College, class of 1832, and at one time superintendent of public schools in Iowa City, Ia.[2] bdba eaa. EBENEZER-GALLUP, born Oct. 15, 1833.

Children of Obadiah-Parish and Eliza (Gallup) Waldo.[2] Born at Tolland, Conn.:—

bdba eab. EMILY-BALDWIN, born Apr. 10, 1836; died May 19, 1886, at Tolland, probably. She married, May 22, 1859, at Tolland, Joseph-Henry, son of Joseph and Emeline (Tillinghast) Straight of Tolland; born Aug. 31, 1840, at East Hampton, Conn. They had no children.

bdba eb. LOREN-PINCKNEY, son of Ebenezer (Zachariah, Edward, Edward, John, Cornelius) and Cynthia (Parish) Waldo; born Feb. 2, 1802, at Canterbury, Conn.;[3] died Sept. 8, 1881, at Hartford, Conn. His education, so far as it was obtained from schools, was completed when he was fourteen years of age, thereafter, until he was twenty-one, he taught school every winter, devoting the rest of his time to labor on the farm in support of the family, then dependent, owing to his father's loss of reason, upon his brother and himself for support. During this period he applied himself, in every leisure hour, to study and so mastered the higher branches of mathematics and acquired a good knowledge of Latin. Hedge's Logic he studied in the field, in the brief intervals of rest from his labor. When twenty-one years of age he left home with nothing but the clothes he wore, and entered upon the study of law with his uncle, John Parish, at Tolland, Conn., and was admitted to the bar by the county court of Tolland County in September, 1825, and soon after removed to Somers, Conn., and began the practice of his profession. He was postmaster at Somers for two years, and one of the superintendents of public schools. He returned to Tolland in 1830, and resided there until 1863 when he removed to Hartford, where he continued to reside until his death. He was elected to represent the town of Tolland in the general assembly of Connecticut 1832, '33, '34, '39, '47 and '48. In 1833, he was clerk of the house of representatives. He was a member of the board of visitors of common schools in Tolland, of the board of commissioners of common schools of Connecticut, and chairman of the committee of education in the house of representatives. The cause of common-school education found in him, at all times, an ardent friend and a wise counsellor. He was attorney for the State for Tolland County from 1837 to '49, and was judge of probate for the district of Tolland in 1842 and '43. In 1847, he was unanimously chosen by the legislature as a member of the committee to revise the statutes, and in 1864 was again appointed to a similar committee. In 1849, he was elected to represent his district in the thirty-first congress of the United States and was made chairman of the committee on Revolutionary pensions. Defeated for a second term, he was soon appointed commissioner of the school fund of Connecticut. During the administration of President Pierce he was appointed commissioner of pensions at Washington, in which office he continued until elected judge of the superior court of Connecticut for a term of eight years, at the expiration of which term, about 1863, he removed to Hartford, where he practiced his profession, at first, in partnership with his son-in-law, Alvan-Pinney Hyde, and later in the firm of Waldo, Hubbard & Hyde. He was much interested in historical and genealogical studies, and wrote a history of Tolland which is highly valued for its completeness and accuracy. He gathered much material for the genealogy of the Waldo family, which was used in the preparation of "Waldos in America," and has been of great value in the present work. In politics he was a democrat. Educated in the Calvinistic faith he joined the church at Westminster, Nov. 13, 1816, with his brother, Obadiah-Parish, but later study leading him to reject some tenets of the orthodox faith, he withdrew from that church, and, July 3, 1826, both he and his brother were excommunicated. He became a conservative Unitarian, and, after removing to Hartford, was a constant and devout attendant at the South Congregational Church in that city.[1]

He married, Nov. 22, 1825, at Tolland,[2] Frances-Elizabeth, daughter of William (Charles) and Elizabeth (Avery) Eldredge of Tolland; born Dec. 10, 1806, at New London, Conn.;[3] died Mch. 29, 1874, at Hartford. Her paternal grandfather, Charles Eldredge, was severely wounded in the massacre at Fort Griswold, Sept. 6, 1781, and her maternal grandfather, Capt. Elijah Avery, was killed in the same massacre.

He read law with his brother-in-law, Loren-Pinckney Waldo, and was admitted to the bar in 1831. He commenced practice at Wallingford, where he was living when married, and was esteemed as a lawyer of considerable promise. He relinquished his profession, however, and studied theology, took deacon's orders in 1838, and was admitted to the priesthood in 1839. He was for many years editor and publisher of the Chronicle of the Church. He was rector of the Episcopal Church at Westhaven, Conn., for eleven years, and of St. Luke's Church, Glastonbury, Conn., for five years. He resigned his charge in 1855 and removed to Hartford, where he became editor of the Calendar till his death.[4]

Y.; died Mch. 12, 1888, at Hudson of apoplexy and is there buried. Of a roving nature and fond of adventure, he ran away to sea at the age of fifteen and pursued a sailor's life until he was forty years of age. His adventures were many and thrilling; the rescue by him with four others of his crew, he being then a mate, of the captain, his wife and three children, and the crew of an English brig in the midst of a frightful gale, was properly acknowledged by the British Board of Admiralty by presenting Waldo and his crew with £100. For two days and three nights, at another time, he and seven companions, wrecked in the Atlantic Ocean, sat on the taffrail of their ship with the sea constantly washing over them awaiting death, from which they were finally saved by a passing vessel.

He rose to be captain of the ship "Orbit," but, soon after, retired, married and settled at Hudson where, for a while, he engaged in mercantile pursuits until the gold fever in California led him and fifty-four others to form a company to sail for the land of gold. A vessel, the bark "Mousam," was purchased and Waldo was elected its captain and treasurer of the company. They had a prosperous voyage to San Francisco, where the company disbanded. Waldo remained in California eighteen months, was elected associate judge of Eldorado County, opened the first court there and was prominently identified with that county. Poor health, however, induced him to return to the East. Soon after his return to Hudson, he was elected sheriff of Columbia County, N. Y., being the only republican on the ticket who was elected. June 23, 1870, he was appointed inspector of customs at New York City.

He married, Feb. 10, 1845, at Hudson probably, Sarah, daughter of John and Maria (Webb) Heath of Hudson; born Dec. 4, 1822, at Hudson; died July 25, 1890, at Hudson.[1] bdia dcb. GEORGE-CLARK, born Mch. 5, 1848; died Dec. 30, 1899, at Mount Vernon, N. Y.[2] "When he was eighteen years old he entered a business college, and after a short course of instruction set out for New York City. He was first employed with Ball, Black & Co., jewellers, but after a while secured a place in the old Equitable Savings Bank, at Twelfth-st. and Sixth-ave. Mr. Waldo was soon made secretary of the bank, and served in that capacity while John DeWitt was president. Mr. DeWitt a few years later was made president of the Excelsior Bank and merged the Equitable into the new institution, taking Mr. Waldo with him as secretary. At the death of President DeWitt Mr. Waldo succeeded him as president, and was at that time, it is said, the youngest bank president in the State, being less than thirty-one years old. He carried the institution through several panics with success. Mr. Waldo enjoyed the reputation of being a shrewd financier, and was associated with a number of business enterprises. He was interested in a number of insurance companies and was a member of the firm of E. L. Post & Co., oil merchants at 10 Peck Slip until that firm dissolved in 1897. He was a member of a Masonic lodge and of the Manhattan, Democratic, Phoenix and Larchmont-Yacht Clubs."[3] He has lived in New York City, Brooklyn, Grand View and Mount Vernon. He married, Oct. 10, 1874, at Wallingford, Conn., Florence-Adelaide Post of Westbrook, Conn. Her mother was a Bushnell. They had no children, but adopted a son, Willard-Clark Waldo.

He married (1), Gabrielle-Dalton Sweet; born July 4, 1863; died July 13, 1893, at Wallingford, Conn., by whom he had two children. Mr. Von Grave was educated at the Prussian military academy and became a lieutenant in the Prussian army, but, after the Turco-Austrian war in which he was wounded, he devoted himself to study of the fine arts, attending, for this purpose, the University at Bonn and the Royal Academy at Munich. After extensive travels he opened a studio at Munich, and his first picture, "Hunting Scene," now adorns the private royal gallery of Bavaria. Coming to America on a visit, he decided to remain here and opened a studio in New York. He soon became interested in industrial art and has devoted himself entirely to that branch of his profession. He was in 1899 in charge of the art department of H. L. Judd & Co., at their factory in Wallingford, Conn. He has no children by his second wife.[1]

c. ROBERT-HALL, born Oct. 1, 1852. He was apprenticed to the drug business in Lafayette, but removed to Chicago, Ill., in 1872, graduated from the Chicago College of Pharmacy in 1875, and was immediately elected one of the trustees, and put in charge of the editorial work of the Pharmacist and Chemist, the official organ of the college. He remained in this position for five years, when he established the printing firm of Cowdrey & Clark. Always interested in political questions, though never active in politics, he became an ardent advocate of the doctrines of Henry George and Dr. McGlynn; and, in 1887, joined the Land and Labor Club of Chicago, was, for three consecutive years, elected its president, and became a conspicuous leader in its discussions. In 1888, he was nominated by the United Labor Party, in convention at Cincinnati, O., as its candidate for President of the United States. In presenting his name for nomination, Dr. McGlynn said of him: "He is a teacher of the doctrine that even the author of Progress and Poverty might well be proud of; strong in logic, quick to grasp an idea and clear in expression. His generosity to an opponent in debate is a constant reminder of Abraham Lincoln. Cool and self-possessed, with a perfect knowledge of his subject, his quick and apt response to questions from his audiences have rarely been equalled. His power in debate lies chiefly in his keeping clearly in mind and in speech the subject he aims to impress upon his audience." Mr. Cowdrey has for many years conducted a successful business and has a high reputation. He is the author of two novels,—"Foiled by a Lawyer," and "A Tramp in Society." "In appearance he is rather thin of face, but his clear-cut features, animated expression and keen blue eyes all tend to light up his countenance with an expression of positive intellectuality. Light auburn hair crowns a high forehead, while a full sweeping moustache fails to hide a chin that shows firmness as well as friendliness to his fellow man." He married, Dec. 15, 1875, at Chicago, Ella-Louise, daughter of Horatio and Louise-Susan (Brown) Hitchcock of Chicago; born in Chicago.[1]

a. HARRIETTE-WALDO, born Apr. 11, 1896.

bdic cg. MARGARET, daughter of Horatio (John, Zacheus, Edward, John, Cornelius) and Frances (Whitney) Waldo; born Oct. 28, 1824, at Griswold, Conn.;[2] died Nov. 30, 1888, at Mt. Morris, N. Y. She graduated at Mt. Holyoke Seminary, 1845. She married, Sept. 26, 1848, at Portageville, N. Y., Lorin-Jesse, son of Jesse and Patty (Howard) Ames [bdcahi] of Royalton, Vt.; born July 12, 1815, at South Royalton; died May 3, 1891, at Mt. Morris. He was educated at Royalton Academy, and studied medicine at Geneva Medical College, where he took his degree, 1843, and immediately settled at Mt. Morris and commenced a practice which he continued up to his last illness.[3]

"Dr. Ames was, for nearly half a century, a very prominent physician in the county in which he lived, having a wide practice, and being called often in consultation. He was held in high esteem by his fellow-practitioners, and was beloved by his patients. He held many prominent positions. For about twelve years he was one of the coroners of Livingston Co. From 1873 to '77 he was postmaster at Mt. Morris. For many years he was one of the most efficient members of the Board of Education, and was secretary of the Cemetery Association and of the Board of Trade, and a medical examiner of the Pension Board at the time of his death. In politics he was a republican, and an early and steady abolitionist. In 1864 he was, for several months, stationed in the City Point Hospital, by appointment of the Christian Commission. He was a member of the Mt. Morris Presbyterian Church, acting as trustee and ruling elder. He was, for many years, a writer for the press, his articles being always pertinent and of high order. In stature he was of medium size, well proportioned and erect. His manner was courteous and gentlemanly. He was of a domestic and hospitable disposition, an affectionate husband and father, and a true friend."[4]

"The funeral of William Ladd of Sprague took place from his residence on Pautipaug Hill, Tuesday, 22d, Rev. H. E. Hart, pastor of Franklin Congregational Church, officiating. The interment was in Franklin Cemetery. Mr. Ladd, who was a resident of the hill for many years, and had always followed the vocation of farming, owned a number of farms. He represented the town in the Legislature in 1891, and was the oldest member in the House."[6]

"In the death of William Ladd of Sprague, one of its oldest citizens, the community has lost a good man of no ordinary character. He was of the purest integrity, rarely found, and the soul of honor. He was ever benevolent, and his deeds of charity, done in a quiet way, were unknown to the outside world. The poor and needy found in him a refuge. His fine character was best reflected in his home life, which was very happy. One among thousands for liberality, he gave a true, loving devotion to his family. Uniformly cheerful, his daily presence gave sunshine to all within his household. The great bereavement is irreparable to his sorrowing companion who survives

He was in business with his father from 1853 to '55 in New York City, and a member of the firm of Waldo, Berry & Co., from 1855 to '64. From 1865 to '71 he was in the brokerage business by himself; in the latter year he went to South Carolina and became a rice planter near Yorkville, S. C. He returned to New York in 1881 and made his home at Staten Island, and later at Tuxedo Park. "He was one of the most popular members of the Tuxedo colony. He had lived with his family at Tuxedo for a number of years, and, while not a man of great wealth, was in comfortable circumstances. About seven years ago it became necessary for Mr. Waldo to undergo a surgical operation to arrest disease. The toe of his right foot was first cut off, then the foot itself, and finally the right leg at the hip. For upward of a year following the last operation Mr. Waldo was in good health, when suddenly the left leg also became affected, and had to be amputated at the hip. Notwithstanding this affliction, Mr. Waldo retained to the last the good spirits and good temper which made him popular. He was an expert whip, and had always been fond of driving fast horses. Only the day prior to his last illness he spent the afternoon driving about the club grounds."[2]

S. A. (Col. R.-H. Musser), in Gen. Price's army. He was made adjutant of his regiment, with the rank of lieutenant. Later he was promoted to a captaincy, continuing to act as adjutant, and just before the close of the war was made assistant adjutant-general, with the rank of major. He received his parole at Shreveport, La., and made his way to Texas, finally settling at Houston, where he took a position in the local freight office of the Houston and Texas Central Railroad. About a year after entering the service of that company he was made local agent at Houston, from which position he was promoted, a few years later, to the general freight and passenger agency of the same line, and subsequently to the vice-presidency, which position he resigned in 1885 to take that of chairman of the Texas Traffic Association. That body being disorganized in 1889 by an act of the Texas Legislature, he was made general traffic manager of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway Company, with headquarters at St. Louis, and after a short time was elected first vice-president of the same company. He resigned that office in 1893, and on account of ill health retired from business for a few years. In 1895 he was elected president of the Galveston, Laporte and Houston Railroad, with headquarters at Houston, and in 1896 took the position of vice-chairman of the Southwestern Traffic Association, with headquarters at St. Louis, which office he held at the time of his death. He died at the Southern Hotel, St. Louis, of pneumonia, after a few days' illness.

ldbc bb. Sarah-Emily, daughter of Charles-Frederick (Jonathan, Jonathan, Jonathan, Jonathan, Cornelius) and Sarah-Vose (Forster) Waldo; born Nov. 30, 1819, at Charlestown, Mass.;[1] died Jan. 9, 1851, at Charlestown. She married, Aug. 18, 1848, at Corfu, Ionian Islands, John York, whose father was an Englishman and whose mother was a Greek. He was born Jan. 15, 1816, at Corfu, and died July 22, 1876, at Washington, D. C.

"Sarah-Emily Waldo early distinguished herself as a scholar of quick perception, clearness of thought and readiness to communicate her ideas to others. When sixteen years of age she joined a different denomination from that in which she had been educated, becoming an ardent Baptist. At seventeen, she took a private school in Boston, where she taught with great success till she decided to become a missionary to Greece. The seat of the Mission was at Corfu, the capital of the Ionian Islands. She sailed with Mr. and Mrs. Arnold as passengers on the Brig "Patapsco," Capt. Bearse, from Boston for Corfu, Jan. 1, 1844. Seven years she taught in Corfu and Athens. At Corfu she met Mr. John York, a native of Corfu but living in Zante, where he had long had charge of a flourishing school. On the 18th of August, 1848, she was united in marriage to Mr. York at the Lord High Commissioner's Palace by Rev. Mr. Warner, civil chaplain of Corfu, and left the following day for Zante, where as wife of a native teacher and head of a family she passed two happy and useful years. Their school was very prosperous, and their pupils fondly attached, but as Protestants they were looked upon with suspicion. Engaged in an arduous but most interesting work, precisely that for which she had gone abroad, the education of Greek youth, they labored against much prejudice and opposition. They excited the enmity of the priests, and, in June, 1850, an article appeared in the Zante papers, urging that an examination be made of the girls' schools, especially in religion; an indirect influence was felt and their school was reduced one-half. The national feeling was growing ever stronger in these islands and the dislike to everything English, government, education, religion, everything that characterized the nation whom they regarded as tyrannizing over them, became a deep-rooted feeling, strengthened by the political events every day occurring. The English policy towards the islands exasperated the feelings of the inhabitants and made them bent on union with Greece. This bore strongly on the Yorks, as an apostate from the church was regarded as a traitor; their house was attacked and they were obliged to leave Zante. They sailed for Corfu, Sept. 24, 1850. At Vienna their little boy was taken ill, but, since after medical advice he seemed much better, they pursued their way to Dresden, where the child grew rapidly worse and died on the 20th of October. He was laid in the Lutheran Cemetery, near other little ones who, like him, had died in a strange land. At Huddersfield, Eng., they met her brother, who accompanied them to Liverpool, where they took passage for Boston, arriving Nov. 16, 1850. After his wife's death Mr. York went to Brown University for study, and returning to Charlestown was elected teacher of the Charlestown Female Seminary. Obtaining a position in the Treasury Department at Washington he removed to that city and resided there until his death. On July 22, 1876, when driving into the city from the country, part of the carriage broke, which frightened the horse so that he ran against a lamp-post, which being imperfect, broke and fell on Mr. York's head, killing him instantly. He was buried at Osterville, Mass."[2]

He married (2), July 18, 1854, at Osterville, Julia, daughter of George and Puella Hinckley, who was born Aug. 20, 1823, and was Not agreeing with the political sentiments of the South he removed to Milwaukee, Wis., in the autumn of 1849, and began the practice of law. He became a prominent citizen of Milwaukee, and was an unsuccessful candidate for mayor. He was also a candidate for the United States senatorship, but was defeated by Hon. Matthew-Hale Carpenter. He took an active interest in all public enterprises, was of determined energy, and was a most thorough and conscientious lawyer, not brilliant, but methodical, and much respected. His private life was spotless. He was for many years president and attorney of the Milwaukee and Northern Railroad, and to his efficiency much of its prosperity was due.

He married, Apr. 20, 1850, at Highland, Mich., Gertrude-Coeymans, daughter of Jacob and Mary-Bethiah (Higgins) VanValkenburgh of Pontiac, Mich.; born Apr. 4, 1827, at Prattsburgh, N. Y.; living, 1899.[1] bdad fia. Amelia-Mott, daughter of Shubael (Zacheus, Jesse, Shubael, Edward, John, Cornelius) and Martha-Brookhouse (Haskell) Waldo; born Feb. 7, 1838, at Thomaston, Me.; living, 1898, at Thomaston. She married, Nov. 28, 1855, at Thomaston, Edwin-Adams, son of George and Susanna (Norwood) Robinson of Thomaston; born Dec. 31, 1824, at Thomaston; died Nov. 23, 1894, at Thomaston. He was a master mariner, as was his father.[1]

"Capt. Edwin-A. Robinson, president of the Thomaston National Bank, died at his home, Gleason street, Thomaston, Thursday about 10.30 A. M., after a sickness of several months from kidney trouble. The funeral was held at the home yesterday afternoon at two, Rev. W. A. Newcombe of the Baptist Church and Rev. Clayton Boothby of the Congregational Church officiating. The floral offerings were very beautiful. Among the testimonials was a beautiful floral anchor from the officers of the Thomaston National Bank. . . . . At the age of twelve he shipped as cabin boy in ship 'Talleyrand,' and by hard work and ability soon rose to the position of captain. His first command was a bark. He afterwards was captain of ships 'Mackinaw,' 'Frank Flint,' and 'A. D. Snow.' He was in China in the 'Flint' at the time of the war between England and China. The 'Snow' was built for Capt. Robinson and Capt. William Willey, one going in her one year, and the other the next. Capt. Robinson's last voyage was in the 'Snow' to San Francisco. After retiring from the sea he devoted himself to the care of his property interests and the welfare of his family, who ever found in him a thoughtful, considerate and indulgent husband and parent. About a year ago he was chosen president of the Thomaston Bank. . . . . He had long been a director, and he fulfilled the duties of his new position with the ability and faithfulness that characterized all his life. He was for a number of years deacon of the Congregational Church of Thomaston, was a consistent Christian in whom none could find a flaw, and died with the respect of the community and the affection and regard of all who knew him."[2]

While in command of the "Flint," Capt. Robinson was employed by the English government in transporting troops from Madras to the Gulf of Pe-chi-li, and after the war back to Madras, being in the service one year. Mrs. Robinson was with him during this time. The ship "Alfred D. Snow" was built at Thomaston, and was one of the finest ships in the American merchant marine service. She was 282 feet long, 42 feet, 3 inches beam, and 29 feet, 3 inches depth of hold, her registered tonnage being 2075 tons.

1898, at Lincoln University, Pa., and was buried at Oxford, Pa. He graduated at the College of New Jersey, 1852, and at Princeton Theological Seminary, 1855. He was tutor, for a while, at Princeton University and became stated supply of the churches at Mays Landing and Tuckahoe, N. J. He was ordained pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Fishkill Landing, N. Y., Nov. 10, 1857, and remained there until 1867, when he was appointed professor of Greek and Latin at Lincoln University.[1]

"He was a well-informed and sound theologian, an educator of high order, a faithful pastor, and an excellent preacher. He was a good specimen of the ministers of the generation now rapidly passing away, dignified, courteous, and whose character, teaching and conduct always won reverence and love. His sermons were models of homiletical arrangement, full of clear doctrine, with earnest practical application. For several years he seldom preached, save in the chapel of the University, but there was always listened to with attention and pleasure. The students all testify to his ability and faithfulness in the class room. He, in a peculiar manner, combined gentleness with great firmness. His convictions of truth and duty were founded on careful study of God's word and were expressed modestly yet with unshaken firmness, producing no antagonism, but winning confidence. His childlike and loving faith sustained him joyfully during his last illness."[2]

APPENDIX.

WALDOS, POSSIBLY DESCENDED FROM CORNELIUS OF IPSWICH, WHOSE PLACE IN THE FAMILY HAS NOT BEEN ASCERTAINED.

1.

——— WALDO, married, probably at Chesterfield, N. H., Polly, daughter of Samuel and Esther (Rounds) Estabrooks who moved to Chesterfield about 1805. "Samuel Esterbrook, son of Benjamin and Joanna, born May 4, 1752, at Rehoboth, Mass., married (1), Esther Rounds, who was born at Rehoboth and died before 1817. He married (2), Mrs. Lucy Hildreth. He settled in Westmoreland, N. H., about 1788 and moved to Chesterfield about 1805, and died about 1820."[1]

2.

——— WALDO, lived at Oneida, N. Y., and married, after 1790, Mrs. Lettice (Cummings) Storrs, widow of Cordial Storrs of Mansfield, Conn., who died about 1790. She outlived her second husband, and died, aged 90, in Watson, Lewis Co., N. Y., in 1849.[2] Cordial Storrs of Mansfield and Lettice Cummings of Killingly, Conn., were married Dec. 2, 1782.[3] The same marriage is recorded in the Church Records of Thompson, Conn., Nov. 23, 1782.[4] Mr. Waldo was a "Deacon." He probably had no children.

3.

——— WALDO, lived at Minonk, Ill.[5]

4.

ADELINE WALDO, married, Mch. 30, 1845 (by Rev. E. Maxwell), probably at Hartland, Niagara Co., N. Y., Erastus, son of James and Electa (Vinton) Shaw, who was born Jan. 8, 1817, at Hartland. They resided (1858) at Bronson, Branch Co., Mich.[1]

Children of Erastus and Adeline (Waldo) Shaw:—

a. Alson-Erastus, born Oct. 5, 1848.
b. Alice-Amanda, born Mch. 26, 1852.

5.

Albert Waldo, with wife Ada, was in Missouri in 1866 for the health of his wife, who was in consumption. He came from, or had friends at, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.[2]

6.

"Albert Waldo, who for the past three years had been employed as boilermaker at the Southern Pacific shops, died at St. Mary's hospital Saturday. Deceased came here from Green Bay, Mich., [Wis.?] and was a trusted employee of the company. He was twenty-eight years of age and unmarried. The remains have been embalmed and will be shipped to Wisconsin tomorrow. A great many of his friends in Tucson will escort the remains from Miller's undertaking rooms to the depot at 8 o'clock tomorrow night."[3]

7.

Austin Waldo, was living, 1849, at Worcester, Mass. He was a wheelwright, and boarded with Mrs. Titus, Union Street.[4]

8.

C.-C. Waldo and Miss Libbie Gumaer, both of Lincoln, Neb., were married Oct. 15, 1879.[5]

9.

Campbell Waldo, married, Apr. 18, 1885, Mrs. Amelia-Sophia, daughter of Daniel (Jacob, Jacob, Jacob, Andrew, Edward, Edward) and Sybil (Cleveland) Spalding of Climax, Mich., and widow of Elias Davis, whom she married June 6, 1859. She was born Nov. 15, 1836.[6] Said to be living at Galesburg, Mich., but unknown at that post-office. He is probably a descendant of Campbell Waldo [bdjbc].

10.

Cordelia Waldo, born Sept. 15, 1839; living, 1885, at Popeson Station, Morgan Co., Utah; married (1), a Mr. Eldridge. She married (2), Silas-W., son of Jephtha (Jonathan, Samuel, Peter, John) and Charlotte (Smith) Condit; born June 17, 1819, probably at Orange, N. H.; died Oct. 27, 1879, in the West. He was a chairmaker. She was his third wife. He married (1), June 17, 1842, Julia-N. Parker; born Feb. 3, 1821; died Jan. 17, 1844. He married (2), Sept. 27, 1844, Sarah-P. Hiscock; died May 3, 1867. By his first wife he had one child and by his second, five.[1] There is no Popeson post-office in Utah.

Children of Silas-W. and Cordelia (Waldo) Condit:—

a. Lottie-E., born 1871.
b. Frank-A., born 1873.
c. Bertha-M., born 1876.
d. Catherine-C., born 1878; died an infant.

11.

Elizabeth Waldo. The marriage intentions of Phillip Galley and Elizabeth Waldow were published at Boston, Mass., Nov. 9, 1728.[2] The marriage intentions of Elizabeth Waldo and James Champion were published at Boston, Mch. 18, 1741.[3] There is no record of either of these marriages, and, perhaps, neither was consummated. The only Elizabeth Waldo of the family of Cornelius of Ipswich, who was eligible for these marriages was Elizabeth, daughter of Cornelius and Faith (Peck) Waldo [cc], who married, Apr. 14, 1830, her cousin John Waldo [bb]. She evidently did not marry again as her brother, Cornelius Waldo, was appointed, Dec. 26, 1746, administrator on the estate of "his sister, Elizabeth Waldo, widow."[4]

12.

Frederick Waldo of Plainfield, Conn., private in McGregier's Company, 4th Conn. Regiment, enlisted Apr. 1, 1778, and was discharged Jan. 6, 1778. He was private in Wolcott's Company, 1st Conn. Regiment, enlisting Mch. 29, 1781, and was discharged Dec. 31, 1781.[5] As no Frederick Waldo has been found who would have been old enough to have enlisted in 1778, it is not unlikely that the foregoing is an error for Frederick Walden.

13.

Frederick Waldo, born 1811, at Albany, N. Y.; died Apr. 17, 1870, at Albany. He was a patent agent and lived at Jersey City, N. J. He married Emma, daughter of Annas and Gertrude (Husser) Kat; born 1829, in Holland. She was living, 1898, with her son in New York City.[1]

Child of Frederick and Emma (Kat) Waldo. Born at New York, N. Y.:—

a. Clifford, born Feb. 22, 1868; married, Apr. 17, 1895, at New York, Marion, daughter of George and Eliza (Leighton) Bowman of New York; born Feb. 16, 1868, at New York. Her parents were from Scotland. Mr. and Mrs. Waldo were living in New York in 1898 at 217 Ninth Ave. He was a letter-carrier.

Child, born at New York:—

a. Ethel, born Dec. 19, 1896.

14.

George-D. Waldo of Troy, N. Y., with David Gleason, John Thomas and Rufus Gilbert of Troy, sold land in Troy to Ephraim Carpenter of Troy, Apr. 30, 1834.[2]

15.

George-W. Waldo, born Mch. 17, 1818; married, Jan. 3, 1840, Susan-M., daughter of Joseph-Chase (James, James, John, James) and Roxana (Wedge) Prescott of Bethany, N. Y.; born Apr. 29, 1822. Her brother, John-W. Prescott, married Lois Waldo, perhaps a sister of George-W. Waldo.[3] See No. 25.

Children of George-W. and Susan-M. (Prescott) Waldo:—

a. Mary-M., born Mch. 2, 1841; married, Dec. 24, 1860, Nicholas-B. Rowe, who was born Feb. 1, 1838. He was a merchant at Lawton, Mich.

b. Uriah-S., born Nov. 18, 1845; enlisted as private for three years, Dec. 26, 1861, in 9th Michigan Cavalry.

c. George-W., born June 18, 1853.

d. Robert, born Dec. 28, 1858.

e. Charles-W., born Sept. 2, 1860.

f. Jenny-M., born May 22, 1863.

16.

Horatio Waldo, married Hannah, daughter of Jabez and Judith (Elderkin) Huntington of Windham, Conn. They lived at Bingham,

[1] Records of Clifford Waldo. [2] Rensselaer County Deeds, vol. xxxiii., p. 177.
[3] "Prescott Memorial," pp. 353, 507.

Vt.[1] She was born Aug. 7, 1765, at Windham.[2] The foregoing marriage must be an error, as no Horatio Waldo has been found of the proper age to marry Hannah Huntington who is not otherwise accounted for.

17.

Horace Waldo, graduated at Amherst College, 1825.[3] He was, perhaps, Horace Waldo [bdilb].

18.

Jane Waldo, married, Dec. 1, 1868, at Sullivan, Jefferson Co., Wis., probably, where she was then living, Elijah-R., son of Ezekiel (Joel, John, Eleazer, John, Edward, Henry) and Phila (Rizzley) Adams of Attica, N. Y.; born Mch. 19, 1818, at Attica; died 1893. He removed to Oak Creek, Wis., and thence, in 1837, to Ixonia, Jefferson Co., Wis., taking up 240 acres of Government land. He married (1), Dec., 1843, Hattie Comstock of Jefferson Co., N. Y., who died Aug. 8, 1867.[4]

19.

Jerusha Waldo, married, Sept. 19, 1827, at Montpelier, Vt., Harvey, son of Elisha (Nathan, Ephraim, Ephraim, Ephraim, Henry) and Elizabeth (Joy) Herrick of Bethel, Vt.; born Mch. 7, 1791, at Bethel; died May 17, 1857, at Grand Detour, Ogle Co., Ill. She was his second wife. He married (1), Jan. 30, 1815, at Bethel, Roxana Leonard, who died Oct. 29, 1824, at Montpelier. By her he had four children; viz.: George-Leonard, Betsy-Joy, Lanson-Dexter, and Electa-Asenath. He was a manufacturer, and lived successively at Bethel, Montpelier and Grand Detour.[5]

The marriage to Jerusha Waldo is not recorded at Montpelier, and perhaps occurred elsewhere. Sept. 11, 1832, Harvey Herrick of Worcester, Vt., purchased by a quitclaim deed of Iram Nye of Montpelier, a house and land in that city.[6] Jerusha was, quite probably, daughter of Edward and Sally (Roe) Waldo [bdageb], but no positive evidence of this has been found. She named one of her children Edward-Waldo.

Children of Harvey and Jerusha (Waldo) Herrick:—

a. Milton, born Aug. 3, 1828; died Oct. 11, 1838.

b. Hiram-Rich, born Mch. 8, 1830; married, Apr. 21, 1859, Nancy-A. Powers, who died Apr. 1, 1881, aged 45 years. They lived at Kinmundy, Marion Co., Ill. He was a farmer.

Children:—

a. Alice-Jane, born July 17, 1860.
b. Charles-Henry, born Oct. 3, 1862.
c. Mary-Evaline, born Dec. 7, 1864.
d. Laura, born Apr. 8, 1867; died Apr. 2, 1869.
e. Emma-May, born Mch. 18, 1870.
f. Netta, born Jan. 29, 1873; died Dec. 26, 1877.
g. Harvey-Edward, born Feb. 5, 1875.

c. Roxana, born Jan. 25, 1831; died Sept. 19, 1832.

d. Harvey, born Mch. 5, 1832; married, Mch. 4, 1855, Elizabeth-A. Powers. They lived at Dixon, Lee Co., Ill. He was a tinsmith.

Children:—

a. William-A., born Apr. 26, 1857.
b. Mary, born Apr. 12, 1859; died Nov. 1, 1867.
c. Charles, born Dec. 1, 1868.

e. Sarah-S., born Aug. 29, 1834; died 1864. She married, 1852, Henry Flucard.

f. Alma-M., born Feb. 6, 1836; died Oct. 16, 1870.

g. Edward-Waldo, born Sept. 24, 1837. He was a merchant at Kinmundy, Ill. He married (1), Oct. 2, 1865, Mary-A.-C. Hall, who died Sept. 20, 1870. He married (2), Oct. 24, 1871, Sarah-A. Young.

Children, by first wife:—

a. Charles-E., born July 16, 1866; died Sept. 11, 1866.
b. Leon, born Oct. 20, 1867.
c. Arthur, born Nov. 26, 1869; died Jan. 15, 1870.

By second wife:—

d. Clara-W., born Sept. 23, 1872.
e. Henry-A., born Sept. 23, 1874; died Mch. 5, 1875.
f. Mabel, born Aug. 4, 1876.
g. Nellie-D., born Oct. 11, 1878.

h. Caroline-M., born Oct. 6, 1839; married, Oct. 15, 1862, Montgomery Wilson.

i. Laura, born Mch. 11, 1845; married, Jan. 24, 1865, Perry Stetler, who died Apr. 26, 1876.

John Waldo and Louisa, his wife, of Batavia, N. Y., sold land in Batavia, Feb. 16, 1828.[1] 21.

John Waldo and Levina, his wife, of Buffalo, N. Y., sold land in [1] Genesee County Deeds, vol. xxi., p. 394.

Buffalo, Nov. 2, 1835. Oct. 31, 1835, he bought land in Buffalo. May 13, 1835, he and his wife sold land in Aurora, N. Y.[1]

"John Waldo, lately from Newfoundland with his family, and settled here, lost his life by jumping over a fence and falling into a well."[2]

"1762, Dec. 6th. Last week John Waldo lately from Newfoundland with his family and settled here,—in getting over a fence, fell into a well, broke his skull and died soon."[3]

There is no evidence that this John Waldo was a descendant from Cornelius of Ipswich.

Joseph Waldo, living at Princeton, Ill.; date not given.[4] Probably bdicd.

24.

Joseph-J. Waldo, took the degree of M. D. at Yale College, 1819.[5] This is, perhaps, an error for Joseph-W. Waldo [dhal].

25.

Lois Waldo, married, Jan. 10, 1835, John-White, son of Joseph-Chase (James, James, John, James) and Roxana (Wedge) Prescott of Bethany, N. Y.; born June 21, 1816, at Bethany. He was a shoemaker till thirty-one years old, when he became a door, sash and blind maker. He was living, 1870, at Lundys Lane, Erie Co., Pa., where he has been a town assessor, deacon of the Freewill Baptist Church, and clerk of the quarterly meetings.[6] See No. 15.

Children of John-White and Lois (Waldo) Prescott:—

a. Mary-Jane, born Nov. 16, 1836; died Apr. 10, 1837.

b. Sarah-Ann, born Feb. 19, 1837; married Henry Rhodes.

c. Anna-Mehitable, born Oct. 12, 1841; married, Oct. 14, 1864, William-Henry-Harrison Mathews.

d. Bascomb-LeRoy, born July 9, 1844; enlisted, Aug. 18, 1862, in Co. I, 145th Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry. He was wounded at Spottsylvania.

e. Robert-A.-George, born Sept. 13, 1846.

f. Charles-Arthur, born June 23, 1860.

26.

Miranda Waldo, married, 1830, Calvin-Turner, son of Nathaniel (Nathaniel, John, John) and Phebe (Millard) Fillmore of Sempronius, N. Y.; born July 9, 1810, at Sempronius. He was a brother of President Millard Fillmore. He was a carpenter and was living, 1857, at or near Ann Arbor, Mich.[1]

27.

Nathan Waldo, married Maria, daughter of Benjamin and Letitia (Holmes) Devoe, who was born 1817 in Ulster County, N. Y., or at Owasco, Cayuga County, N. Y., and died after the birth of her first child.[2]

28.

Nathan Waldo, of Aurora, N. Y., bought land in Aurora, May 1, 1827, and Sept. 26, 1832. With Harriet his wife he sold land in Aurora, Nov. 19, 1830, Jan. 31, 1831, Feb. 9, 1832, and Sept. 30, 1835.[3] 29.

Nathan Waldo, married Lois, daughter of David (David, David, John, Thomas) and Dorcas (Arnold) Hurlbut of Connecticut and later of Vermont and New Hampshire. She was born between 1770 and 1780 probably. After Mr. Waldo's death his widow married (2), a Mr. Bathawick and died at Albion, N. Y.[4] David Hurlbut lived first at Middletown, Conn., but removed after 1770. This Nathan Waldo was most likely son of Shubael and Priscilla (Smith) Waldo [bdabc], the only Nathan Waldo of the proper age who has not been accounted for. He had relatives living at Alstead, N. H.

30.

Prentiss Waldo, born at Moriah, N. Y., was a blacksmith and farmer and prominent in the Methodist Church. He married, Nov. 8, 1839, Cornelia, daughter of Harvey and Harriet (Sears) Vidito; born Oct. 1, 1816, probably at Hinesburg, Vt.[5]

Child of Prentiss and Cornelia (Vidito) Waldo:—

a. Lucius, born March, 1841; died in infancy.

31.

Samuel Waldo, was clerk in Capt. Lyons' company, 11th Reg., Militia, which was in New York, 1776.[1] Perhaps bdaa or dhh.

32.

Samuel Waldo, was private under Jared Strickland, Aug. 18, 1814, to Oct. 24, 1814.[2] Perhaps bdbaf.

33.

Sarah Waldo. The intentions of marriage between Stephen Daniel and Sarah Waldo were published at Boston, Mass., June 7, 1716.[3] Sarah Waldo and John Hide were married at Brattle Street Church, Boston, May 19, 1720.[4] There seems to be no place for this Sarah among the descendants of Cornelius of Ipswich, unless she was a daughter of Daniel Waldo [d], but there is no evidence that he had a daughter Sarah. It is probable that the same Sarah is meant in both the entries in the Boston records, and that the marriage to Stephen Daniel was not consummated. John Hide may have belonged to the Newton family of Hides, but nothing has been learned of him. Perhaps he died soon after the marriage and it was his widow Sarah Hide who married, Nov. 30, 1727, at Brattle Street Church, Boston, Percy Codner.[5]

34.

Sarah Waldo, died 1862. She married, 1860, Henry, son of Alexander-Hamilton (Oren, Levi, Levi, David, Jonathan, Thomas, Henry) and Adelia (Crocker) Adams of Springfield, Pa.; born Mch. 23, 1839, at Springfield. He married (2), 1864, Catherine Godfrey, who died in 1865. He married (3), 1870, Hattie Locke, who died in 1879. He married (4), 1883, Cina Houghteling. He was a shoemaker and lived at Albion, Erie Co., Pa.[6]

Child of Henry and Sarah (Waldo) Adams:—

a. LeRoy, born 1862; died 1882.

35.

Shubael Waldo, of Aurora, N. Y., bought land in Aurora, Apr. 13, 1830; he bought other land there, Jan. 31, 1831, of Nathan and Harriet Waldo (see No. 28); Mch. 12, 1844, he bought still more land there, and again, Aug. 28, 1846. Shubael Waldo and Delilah his wife, of Aurora, sold land in that town, Sept. 14, 1842, Dec. 20, 1850, and Oct. 4, 1852. Delilah Waldo bought land in that town Oct. 5, 1852, and Dec. 18, 1853; and sold Sept. 2, 1856, being called in the last deed, "wife of Shubael." [1] 36.

Susanna Waldo, æt. 8, died of scarlet fever in Boston, Mass., Oct. 23, 1829, and was buried in lot No. 9, Central Ground.[2] She was, perhaps, daughter of Thomas-Fanning Waldo [dhid].

37.

Walter Waldo, was living at Chelsea, Vt., Nov. 26, 1812, when he leased of Josiah Dana and John Stearns of Chelsea for $80 for two years a messuage or tenement in Chelsea.[3] He had a wife named Rhoda, and the birth of one of their children is recorded at Chelsea. The wife Rhoda, probably married again, as "Edward Pease of Brookfield, Vt., and Rhoda Waldo were married, Jan. 24, 1827, by Calvin Noble, Minister of the Gospel, at Chelsea." [4] Probably Rhoda-Jane Waldo, whose marriage is recorded at Chelsea, was a daughter of Walter and Rhoda. It was supposed that this Walter was identical with Walter Waldo of Hartford, Vt. [dhdf], but later discoveries have disproved this. It seems likely that either he or his wife Rhoda was some relation of Elijah, son of Walter and Sarah (Gilbert) Bingham, from the name they gave their son. [5]

Children of Walter and Rhoda Waldo. Born at Chelsea, Vt.:—

a. Elijah-Gilbert-Bingham, born May 6, 1814. Elisha (sic) -G.-B. Waldo of New York City sold, Apr. 20, 1837, to Charles-B. Prescott of Troy a tract of land in Troy, which he had previously purchased of Henry-T. Eddy. As no wife signed the deed he was probably unmarried.[6]

b. Rhoda-Jane. "Warren King of Bridgewater, Windsor Co., Vt., and Rhoda-Jane Waldo of Chelsea were married at Chelsea Sept. 13, 1835." [7]

38.

William-Sylvestus Waldo, born about 1834; married, May, 1863, at Baltimore, Md., Mary-Eliza, daughter of Lee and Eliza-Ann (Holmes) Collins of Baltimore; born Nov. 10, 1825, at Baltimore; living, 1899, at Baltimore. Mr. Waldo was an engineer. He served during the Civil war, first on the gunboat "Eutaw," and later in the 4th Maryland Vol. Infantry. He disappeared in 1866 and has not since been heard of. He was a fine tenor singer. His wife says that he had a brother named Robert, and that he was possibly from Cincinnati, O.[1]

Child of William-Sylvestus and Mary-Eliza (Collins) Waldo. Born at Baltimore, Md.:—

a. John-Lee, born Apr. 22, 1864; married, Aug. 14, 1888, at Baltimore, Ella, daughter of George and Margaret (Aleff) Beacham of Baltimore; born Jan. 2, 1867, at Baltimore. He is a moulder by trade. He has a fine baritone voice, and has been on the stage.

Children, born at Baltimore:—

a. George-Edward, born May 12, 1889.
b. John-Lee, born June 1, 1891.
c. Margaret-Marie, born Nov. 21, 1893.
d. Joseph-Anton, born Mch. 19, 1896; died July 21, 1896.
e. Wilhelmina, born June 21, 1897.

INDEX OF PERSONS.

Italic letters following a name indicate that the person bearing that name is either a descendant or married a descendant of CORNELIUS WALDO, of Ipswich, Mass., the number of letters being one less than the generation in which the person belongs. Such names may be found under the index letters given and on the page to which the figures following refer. Names not followed by index letters are incidentally mentioned and are not descendants of CORNELIUS WALDO. For full explanation of the notation employed, see the preface. Names in the introduction and of authorities mentioned in the foot-notes are not indexed.
